

Quick Checklist for a Good

SpeakerFit

How to select the right guest for your next women's event

CAROLE BREWER

Quick Checklist for a Good SpeakerFit

Being a ministry leader or event planner is a calling, a privilege, and a challenge! And when you're planning an event, finding just the right speaker is a big part of that challenge!! Your heart's desire is to organize an experience that encourages, entertains, and points your people to the Lord. I pray this checklist guides you to selecting the best speaker fit for your next event! James 1:5

Audience-Fit

Who will be there? Will your audience be multi-generational or a specific age group? Consider what the speaker offers your audience through her background, experiences, and ability to effectively connect and communicate with your audience.

Theology-Fit

What does your speaker believe about God the Father, His Son Jesus Christ, and the Holy Spirit? Review her website and Mission Statement. Consider how her beliefs line up with the theology of your church.

Topic-Fit

Have you considered that the topic and title contribute many aspects to your event? The topic provides a way to proclaim the Gospel with a specific emphasis. The title lends itself to decorating schemes and graphics design for your program and handouts. Your speaker should provide and/or work with you to select a topic that makes your event sound fun and inviting. Choose a speaker who is easy to work with and can effectively deliver a transformational message without deviating from the chosen topic.

Budget-Fit

For many event planners, speaker cost is one of the first concerns and can even supersede some other important musts for a good speaker fit. You might be surprised to know that some professional Christian speakers may be willing to serve your women for a love offering, your limited budget, or a combination of both. If it truly feels like a good fit, God has a way of working out the details.

Style-Fit

What tone would you like to set for your event? Will it be light-hearted, serious, or a combination of both? Choose a speaker whose aim is to give a message that refreshes, renews, and points her audience to the truth of God's word.

Travel-Fit

How far would your speaker have to travel to come to your event? Bringing a speaker who is closer to your region will be less costly. Traveling in the same time zone with a minimum of transfers will be easier on your speaker as well. Choose a speaker who is flexible to work within your budget for travel, food, and lodging.

Referral-Fit

Are you reluctant to invite a speaker if you were not previously aware of her ministry? This is where prayer and God's leading are all important before you offer an invitation. Also, take time to read and consider the statements by others posted on the speaker's website. Proverbs 3:5-6

"Extras"-Fit

Inviting a speaker who combines excellent worship and special music within her presentations is a plus because the presentation will flow seamlessly. Even before the event, the speaker could assist the event planner immensely with graphics and planning. Such enthusiasm is encouraging to the entire planning team and will save time and expense as well. Choose a speaker who is experienced and passionate about reaching your women with the Gospel of Jesus Christ!

T. (916) 987-1727 • E. info@carolebrewer.com
www.CaroleBrewer.com • www.BibleChicks.com

PO Box 628, Fair Oaks CA 95628